A Mississippi law firm that earlier this month announced the addition of 37 lawyers to its Nashville, Tenn., office isn't done growing there yet.

The 39 attorneys now working in Nashville for Butler Snow O'Mara, Stevens and Cannada may soon have more colleagues, the Nashville Ledger reports.

"From what I've seen in Nashville so far, I wouldn't be surprised if Nashville leads the firm in growth from now on. ... This is just the start," says firm chairman Donald Clark Jr., who notes that Butler Snow is still recruiting more attorneys there.
